Billionaire Bodyguard

by Alison Reid

She doesn't need protection.

He refuses to leave.

Violet Miller is brilliant, controlled, and untouchable in the courtroom—but outside it, someone is watching.

Anonymous gifts. Cryptic notes. A presence that's getting closer.

She calls it harmless.

Her brother calls in a favour.

And suddenly, the one man she never wanted to see again is back in her life.

Chad Morgan—former Marine, billionaire security expert, and the man who broke her heart with a single lie.

Now he's living in her apartment.

Watching her every move.

Determined to keep her safe… whether she wants him there or not.

Because this isn't admiration. It's obsession.

And when a single message changes everything—Get rid of the boyfriend.—the danger becomes impossible to ignore.

Forced into close quarters, old tension reignites.
Stolen glances turn into heated arguments.
And the chemistry they tried to bury? It's more explosive than ever.

But as the threat escalates, one truth becomes clear—the closer Chad gets to protecting Violet… the harder it is to protect his heart.

Because this time, walking away might not be an option.
And falling for her again?
Could cost them both everything.
